Free Coinage Gaining Strength
Daily.

Free Coinage Committee.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The chairman this morning laid before the House Coinage Committee a request from the Chamber of Commerce of New York for a hearing on the Silver bill next Thursday. The request was granted. A vote was then taken on the motion pending yesterday to strike out that part of Bland's resolution directing hearings to close on Thursday next. It resulted adversely to Bland, and the same fate awaited the amendments to fix Friday and Saturday of next week. A motion to hold evening sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week was then carried. Williams of Illinois, made a motion that the Chairman ask unanimous consent from the House for permission to sit during the session of the House, which was carried. Before adjournment a protest against further silver legislation, signed by seventy-nine members of the Chicago Board of Trade, was presented.

The Forsythe Case.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The Secretary of War is finding the Forsythe case an exceedingly delicate and knotty problem to deal with. He is embarrassed on one side by the endorsement of General Miles which makes it incumbent upon the Secretary either to institute further proceedings against Colonel Forsythe, or make an acknowledgment of the disapproval of Miles' course in suspending Colonel Forsythe, and at the same time run the risk of offending the humanitarians who have looked upon the killing of women and children as unjustifiable murder. On the other hand he has a good portion of the army defending Forsythe's course.

Assassins in New Mexico.

By Associated Press.
SANTA FE, Feb. 6.—Last evening while five Republican members of the City Council were holding a consultation in the office of one of their number, two shots were fired through the window from the outside. A. Archulta was seriously wounded, while T. B. Catron and others were narrowly missed. The would-be assassins then rode away in the darkness, followed by a posse.

A Novel Scheme.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 6.—A number of forged telegrams bearing the name of Camonda, a banker of Paris, were received here to-day ordering the sale of large quantities of Brazilian securities. The result was that, until it was discovered the telegrams were not genuine, a panic prevailed in those securities on the stock exchange. When the fact became known that Camonda sent no such dispatches the market for Brazilians recovered. A number of brokers were victimized by the plot of the forgers.

Democratic Caucus.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A call has been made for a caucus to-morrow evening of the Democratic members of the House. The call does not state the object for which the caucus is called, but it is understood the silver question will be the principal matter discussed, and there will be a general interchange of views as to the course of procedure during the remainder of the session.

Death of a Pioneer.

Special to the GAZETTE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—John P. Hale Wentworth, publisher of the "Resources of California," died last night of heart failure. He was a native of Boston, Me. In September of '49 he arrived in this city on the ship Charlotte.

Depew Declines.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Press says the Treasury portfolio was offered to Chauncey Depew, but the latter cannot be induced to accept.

Congressional.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Paddock presented resolutions from the Nebraska House of Representatives against the passage of the Conger land bill for the reason it would inflict great losses on the cattle industry of Nebraska, and were in favor of the passage of the Paddock pure food bill.

The Naval Appropriation bill was reported with sundry amendments, and Hale gave notice that he would ask the Senate to take it up to-morrow or Monday.

Halley offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the President for the correspondence in reference to the conduct of senior naval officers present on the occasion of the arrest and killing of General Barrand, and the action of the Navy Department.

Morgan addressed the Senate in support of the bill reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations to aid in the construction of the Nicaragua maritime canal.

HOUSE.
The conference report on the bill providing for an additional Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona was agreed to.

McKinley asked unanimous consent for the present consideration of the bill providing that nothing in the tariff act shall be held to reveal or impair the reciprocity treaty with the Hawaiian Islands. Bland thought the bill should be considered in Committee of the Whole. McKinley moved the House go into Committee of the Whole for that purpose, but withdrew his action when he found it was impossible to limit time to debate.

The Speaker laid before the House the Senate bill amending the Laird forfeiture act of September 29, 1880, so that the period within which settlers, purchasers and others under the provisions of said act may make application to purchase lands forfeited thereby, when such period begins to run from the passage of the act shall begin to run from the date of promulgation, by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, of instructions to officers of the local land offices, for their direction in the disposition of said lands. The bill passed with verbal amendments.

The Senate bill was passed with reference to the court of claims of the administratrix of George W. Lawrence, growing out of the construction of the vessels Agowan and Pontinsic in 1872.

The pending question was a decision of the Chair upon a point of order raised by Dingley against Bland's free coinage amendment. There was no debate and the Speaker immediately proceeded to deliver his decision, sustaining the point of order. Bland appealed from the decision, but the Chair was sustained.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole—Payson of Illinois in the Chair—on the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

The following Democrats voted in the affirmative: Andrews, Mutchler, Vaux, Spinola, Dunphy, Wiley and Clancy. The following Republicans voted in the negative: Carter, Townsend, (Col.), Lind, Bartine, Turner, (Kan.), Kelly, Laws, Connel, Herman, Sweet and Clark. When the Chair announced the vote 134 to 127, the Republican side burst into applause. Dockery of Missouri, moved to strike out the appropriation of $20,000 for recoinage and insert the words "and so much as may be necessary to meet expenses of such recoinage is hereby appropriated out of the silver profit fund." Adopted.

The Committee on Postoffices and Post-roads reported the appropriation bill, and it was placed on the calendar. At a meeting of the committee the postal telegraph bill was laid on the table.

The committee then returned to the World's Fair paragraph, to which Chandler of Massachusetts proposes (though it has not yet been formally offered) the following substitute: That the Secretary of the Treasury be instructed not to approve the payment of any expense attendant upon the meeting of the World's Fair Columbian Commission of the Board of Lady Managers, except such meeting as may be called at the time of the dedication and opening of the World's Fair, as provided for in Section 9 of said act; not to approve the payment of any expenses attendant upon the meeting of the Executive Committee of the World's Columbian Commission as created by Article 5 of the by-laws of said commission; nor upon the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Lady Managers, except such meetings as may be held not oftener than once in six months; nor to approve the payment of any salary to any official of the World's Columbian Commission out of any money which has been or may be available for such purposes, other than an annual salary not in excess of $5,000 to the President, $4,000 to the Vice-Chairman of the Executive Committee and $3,000 to the Secretary; nor to approve the payment of any salary to any officer of the Board of Lady Managers out of any money which has been or may be available for such purpose, other than an annual salary not in excess of $5,000 to the President and $3,000 to the Secretary; nor to approve the payment of any expenses of the World's Columbian Commission or Board of Lady Managers, other than those hereinbefore mentioned, which shall amount to more than $10,000 per annum in the aggregate.

Flower of New York, in speaking on the amendment, said the desire of the committee on the quadricentennial was to make the country understand that the committee was in favor of economy in the expenditures connected with the Fair.

Traffic Affairs Mixed.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The prospect of the successful launching of the Western Traffic Association is growing more and more dubious. Men who believed it would be pushed to a successful issue now say they don't see how the scheme can be carried out in view of the obstacles being thrown in their way. The Santa Fe has practically blocked the provision for competitive traffic, the most important feature of the plan, by refusing to make up a deficiency due other lines by diverting freight to them at Kansas City as ordered by the arbitrators of the tonnage pool. The Santa Fe refused on the grounds that it is entitled to more than 40 per cent. of the total traffic from southwestern Missouri river points, and has been getting less than thirty.

Chairman Walker says the arbitrators can do nothing in the face of such a state of affairs and acknowledged the agreement had been broken. In passenger affairs the Santa Fe has also willfully violated pledges by disturbing rates between St. Louis and Chicago in connection with the Jacksonville Southeastern.

Chairman Finley has issued an order that the Santa Fe must no longer honor tickets of the Jacksonville Southeastern, but it is believed the order will not be obeyed, and the result will probably be the Santa Fe's withdrawing from the Western Passenger Association. In that case it cannot be a member of the President's Association, and it is freely predicted that unless the Santa Fe changes its policy the Western Traffic Association will never be put in operation.

California Legislature.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—A joint resolution memorializing Congress to abolish the duty on grain bags, burlaps or gunny cloth was adopted.

Owing to the light attendance of Senators the constitutional amendments were passed on the file, and the third reading of bills was taken up.

HOUSE.

Several members this morning declared their votes had been recorded wrongly on the question of sending the Fire Department bill to the Committee on Municipal Corporation. The vote was changed to stand 35 to 34.

Was It a Hoax?

Special to the GAZETTE.

BENICIA (Cal.), Feb. 6.—A party of five young men came from Port Costa, beating their way, it is thought, on the train on Wednesday evening. On arriving here they got off the train to avoid the brakeman, and one of them stepped overboard. His companions gave the alarm, and the switchman heard a call for help as from a drowning person. The rest of the party boarded the train as it pulled out and went towards Sacramento. Search has been made at low water for the body, but without success.

Dempsey Still in It.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Jack Dempsey, who arrived last night, was seen this morning, and, in reply to queries, said: "I see no reason why I should forsake the ring. I certainly met a better man in Fitzsimmons, but it is not every one in the middleweight division that possesses such extraordinary natural advantages as he does. I have no fixed plans for the future yet, but I certainly am not out of business."

Waterway Commission.

By Associated Press.

WALLA WALLA, Feb. 6.—The waterway Convention assembled here this morning. A memorial to Congress urging the passage of the McConnell, Mitchell and Dulp bills for certain river improvements was adopted, also a memorial to the Legislatures of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, recommending an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars from each State for a portage railway around the Dalles and Cascades of Columbia was presented.

A Heavy Fire Loss.

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—A fire last night in the Pullman car shops here destroyed their contents, together with a number of small dwellings near by. Some of the inmates narrowly escaped with their lives. The aggregate loss is estimated at $250,000, partly insured.

Arrested for Perjury.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Fullerton, employed on a local paper, was arrested this morning for perjury. Several months ago Fullerton went on a bond in Superior Court for Peter Werling, charged with assault to murder. Werling has since left the city. When his bonds came to be examined, it was found Fullerton had sworn that he owned fifty acres of land in Alameda county. The county records were examined and his name not found among the property holders. He and his fellow bondsman, Edward Phillips, were indicted by the grand jury. Fullerton claims to be worth $60,000 beside the land mentioned.

Irish Affairs.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Standard says it is rumored that McCarthy will object, at the meeting of his followers on Thursday, a letter from Gladstone giving his views on the present situation, and that afterward a meeting of the whole Irish party will be held, at which Parnell will explain the conditions on which he withdraws from the chairmanship and his future intentions.

A prominent Irish deputy says Parnell and McCarthy will retire from the leadership of their respective factions in favor of Dillon.

Another Railroad.

By Associated Press.

SIoux CITY (Ia.), Feb. 6.—A deal has been made in New York whereby Hill of the Great Northern appears as the backer of the Short Line. The objective point of this line is Ogden, Utah. A quarrel between the Sioux City and New York stockholders caused the road to be put into the hands of a receiver in December.

Last week the Sioux City party, which has $1,000,000 in the road, effected a contract to buy the interest of the New York parties. The Hill interest will then put up money to complete the line immediately.

Salmeron Defeated.

By Cable and Associated Press.

BARCELONA, Feb. 6.—A conservative candidate for membership in the Chamber of Deputies was elected, defeating Salmeron, the Republican leader. Republicans are enraged at the result of the contest and accuse the officials in charge of the election with tampering with the ballots. The government officials are thoroughly alarmed, and are making preparations to resist a popular uprising. The military authorities in this city, and in other large towns, are ordered to hold the troops in readiness.

Cabinet Crisis.

By Cable and Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 6.—The Cabinet crisis seems to become more serious every day. Upon King Humbert's refusal to consent to large economical reductions in the naval and military budgets, the members of the Right Center will withdraw from the Cabinet. A combination which will result in dissolving the chamber is expected.

In a decree published to-day King Humbert accepted Crispi's resignation, and entrusted Marquis De Rudini with the task of forming a Cabinet.

Steamer Sunk in the Mersey.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 6.—What might have proved a terrible disaster, occurred to-day, but fortunately the only damage done was the sinking of a steamer. The British steamer, Knutsford, collided in the river Mersey with the steamer Drumhead, injuring the latter vessel so she soon sank. What added to the dangerous circumstances of collision was the fact that the steamer had a cargo of dynamite.

Strike in Rolling Mills.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A strike of the furnace men in the Illinois Steel Company's workshop at South Chicago virtually caused the shutting down of the big rolling mills. There are 500 men out. They demand an increase of wages and the discharge of an obnoxious foreman.

NEVADA LEGISLATURE.

A Windy Day at the Capital and the Saloons Adjourned Until Monday.

NINETEENTH DAY.

Special to the GAZETTE.

CARSON, Feb. 6.—In the Senate, Ricker introduced a bill providing for the transportation of insane patients and convicts to the Asylum and State Prison, and fixing the pay of persons taking them at eight dollars per day, unless they be salaried officials, in which case they get nothing.

Stearns introduced a bill fixing the fees and compensation of officers.

By Millet, providing for electors to vote intelligently for or against a constitutional convention at the next election, by having, "For and Against" printed on all ballots.

The A. B. making an appropriation for the State University was referred to the Committee on Education.

The Senate then went into Committee of the Whole, with Emmitt in the chair, upon the bill to allow ex-Governor Bell $1,111.20 back pay, which was passed by the following vote: ayes 14, nays 4, which latter were Sproule, Millet, Torre and LaGrave. Absent, two.

The Deficiency Bill for 1889-90, amounting to $1,507.20 was passed.

The Joint Resolution and Memorial relative to the distribution of the waters of the Truckee at its terminal, was passed.

In the Assembly matters were very quiet. A contingent bill for $32.12 was passed.

The Humboldt delegation reported favorably on A. B. 23.

Emery introduced a bill to regulate fees of Constables and Justices, which affects Storey county only.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

In the Senate the Secretary of State appeared with the returns of the vote on the Constitutional Convention.

The Senate Election Committee burn up Millet, LaGrave and Emmitt on that committee. The objection to Bell's back pay is that it should not amount to much over nine hundred dollars.

A terrible wind storm is prevailing in Carson to-day, shaking the Capitol dome and windows and making a din that is distressing.

There is some talk and a threat that a convention must be called.

Kean Bank Tied Up.

By Associated Press.

CAICAGO, Feb. 6.—Judge Tuley of the Circuit Court has practically tied up any settlement of the Kean bank affair by granting an injunction to Bishop Taylor, the African missionary, restraining Kean and his assignees from disposing of the bank assets. By these proceedings the Bishop seeks to establish a trust fund for about $90,000, which he says Kean received as Treasurer for the fund to establish the missionary.

Giant Powder Explosion.

By Associated Press.

LEADVILLE, Feb. 6.—A terrible explosion of giant powder occurred in the Wierly tunnel of the White Quail mine of Kokoma yesterday. William Young and John Anderson were blown to atoms. John Johnson, John McCloud and Will Crane were terribly injured. Many of their bones were broken by flying rocks.

New York Stocks.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A firm tone prevailed in the stock market around noon. St. Paul and Union Pacific displayed some animation, but neither showed fluctuations of importance.

Weather Report.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The forecast is light rains in the northern part of California and warmer at Fresno.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

The custom officers at Portland this afternoon seized fifteen thousand dollars worth of opium.

The free silver advocates in Boston will be addressed by Senator Stewart of Nevada, February 13.

The Treasury to-day purchased 507,000 ounces of silver of 1,07,000 offered at prices ranging from 1.0198 to 1.0225.

A fire at Riverside, Cal., this morning damaged the printing office of the Weekly Phoenix to the amount of $2,500; insurance, $3,000.

Work at the Oriental mills at Providence, R. I., has been stopped under attachments aggregating $387,000. A second assignment is looked for.

Jealous Wm. Ashton in Philadelphia attacked his wife with hatchet and knife. She escaped not fatally hurt. He then fatally cut his own throat.

Near the village of Rueth, in the canton of Glarus, twenty wood cutters were buried beneath a mass of snow, ice, rocks and trees. Only three bodies were recovered.

Later reports to St. Louis about the accident on the Cotton Belt railroad near Clarendon, Ark., show the engineer had his leg broken and the fireman was perhaps fatally injured. No passengers were hurt so far as is known.

Don't forget the public meeting to-morrow night at the Court House.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Citizen—So you think of locating here? Physician—Yes, I thought of some of practicing among you.

Citizen—See here, young man, there's a good opening here for a man as under stands his business, but we don't want to practice, or experimenting—doctoring's what we want.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present, alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder.

The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his "practice" until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay.

A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause of all those distressing symptoms, and insured comfort instead of prolonged misery.

It's the only medicine for the weakness, irregularities and painful derangements peculiar to womanhood, sold by druggists under a positive guarantee that it will give satisfaction in every case, or price paid for it will be refunded.

THE STATED CONVOCACTIONS OF RENO Chapter No. 7, R. A. M., are held at Masonic Hall on the evening of the first Thursday of each month, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp.

All social companions in good standing are fraternally invited to attend. By order of the E. H. F. W. L. BECHTOLD, Secretary.

AT THE FISH CANNERIES.

A Description of the Wheel with Which the Fish Are Caught.

When on the Columbia river last summer, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean, I saw those wonderful "fish wheels," by which the fine salmon of that magnificent river are taken. One, which I examined particularly while in operation, was thirty-six feet in diameter, with the other measurements in proportion. It was permanently placed in its settings near the shore, with a sort of fence running from it and widening out into the stream below, so as to compel the fish from quite a width of the river to come that way. The current, of course, turns the wheel, which is so served with wire that when the mighty paddles go down any thing of size that comes that way is once lifted out of the water.

Now the salmon is no "happy-go-lucky" fish. It will not float with the current, but, instead, ever goes against it, sometimes, too, at the rate of twenty miles an hour. So, drawn in by this fence inclosure, battling with a five or six-mile current they rush into the wire cages of this revolving wheel and are lifted out of the water. This wheel is so arranged with troughs on a slant between the paddles that the fish are dropped into a large tank, through the apertures of which the water runs freely. And this tank is so fitted with pulleys that whenever desired it can be lifted above the river, and the water immediately running out the fish are readily killed and then taken in boat loads to the cannery factory.

There are several of these wheels to each factory. And looking into one of these factories I saw a large room, possibly forty feet square, covered a foot or two deep with fish, waiting patiently to be put through the necessary processes and get safely housed in cans.

With one of these wheels, so I was told by a boss fisherman, they took out last spring, in twenty-four hours, 102,000 pounds. When I was there the best of the season was passed, but even then they were doing a lively business. One salmon then taken would measure about four feet in length, but the most of them that were being flopped over would weigh from five to twenty pounds.

The smaller ones they do not desire, and so the sieves on the wheel are made sufficiently coarse to let them through, and they fell back into the current to be picked up again some future day when grown to respectable and paying size.

There were pointed out to me several varieties of the salmon, some of which, for instance the "dog" and "white," are either discarded altogether, or traded off for trinkets to the Indians. But, when not being watched, the temptation must be considerable to make good market of them all. The "blue-black" and the dark and spotted varieties have the finest grain and flavor, and so are the most prized. But many a salmon that is eaten and relished in Chicago would not be served in Portland. But since all can "not live in Oregon, it is well that with this dish people are not over dainty, for "when ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

A MEXICAN CENTAUR.

The Strange Creature Killed in the Woods of Arkansas.

According to an Arkansas Journal Dr. Collins of Little River County, that State, killed a most remarkable quadruped near his place in the spring of 1877. From the time of the war up until the year named, several persons claimed to have frequently seen an animal in the form of a large red deer, with the head and neck of a man. On the day that the animal was killed, Dr. Collins' wife and a negro girl were going along an unused path when they saw the queer creature peering at them through the underbrush. They made haste and informed the doctor what had occurred. He took his gun and started in search of the beast, which he soon overtook and shot. Closer inspection showed that the head, instead of being that of a man, more nearly resembled that of a baboon. Its eyes were large and very prominently set to the sides of its head. A long fringe of brown beard covered the chin and neck. Dr. Collins says that when he came up with the creature and leveled his gun at it it seemed to be aware of its great danger, the large eyes melting into tears as it saw the utter hopelessness of the case. When shot it uttered a heart-rending scream and leaped high in the air, expiring with awful groans which closely resembled those of a man in distress. It is generally believed that the creature was a species of Mexican centaur, a semi-legendary creature of the post-conquest era.

A Housebuilding Fish.

In Lake Nyassa, in the interior of "Darkest Africa," there is a kind of blackfish which every year builds what the natives term a house. In the mud at the bottom of the lake it makes a hole some two or three feet broad, heaping up the mud removed from the hole so as to form a little wall around it. The depth of the hole and the height of the wall measured together make a basin from fifteen to twenty inches deep. In this lake within a lake this queer little fish erects a mudhouse, the average-sized specimen measuring four inches across the bottom, rapidly coming to a point in the shape of a broad cone. A hole four inches in diameter, always on the south side, serves as an opening for egress and ingress. A dried specimen of this queer domicile preserved in the Royal Museum at Berlin has two doors, and a partition separating it into two rooms.

Latest Fad in Bath-Tubs.

It is quite possible, indeed it is very easy, to pay fifteen hundred dollars for a bath-tub in these days, says the New York Sun. For seven hundred dollars or eight hundred dollars the makers now offer tubs of iron faced with porcelain and then boxed around with marble in such a way that to all appearance the whole tub is carved out of the beautiful stone. But if you want to bathe elegantly and have fifteen hundred dollars to spare you may buy a bath-tub all marble outside and raised at one end to a height of ten feet to accommodate a shower-spray in a tall marble tower that is open at the end toward the rest of the tub. If you put this in your bath-room and cover the walls and floor with glazed tiles and set up a cheval glass seven feet high in which to look at yourself while you bathe you will be quite in the fashion and out twenty-five hundred dollars at the least.

A YELLOW FEVER VICTIM.

He Escaped the Bullets, But the Scourge Overtook Him.

In the year of the last yellow fever epidemic in the South, says the New York Tribune, one of the first men to catch the disease at a summer resort on the Gulf was a tall, rather heavily-built man, whose eyes were dark and keen, and who wore a very fine gray imperial. He was a strikingly handsome man, with his military carriage and his strong face. But his manner was grave and chilling and he made few acquaintances. Staying at the big hotel was a man who, in earlier life, had lived in the West, but who shortly after the war had married a Southern widow, who owned a sugar plantation on the Mississippi river. He knew Major Wells, the stranger, and on the evening when the Major died told the following story to a group of men who sat on one of the hotel verandas:

"When I first saw Wells he was a Deputy United States Marshal in Nevada. He was so cool and daring that he seemed absolutely indifferent to death. He would calmly walk into a bar-room filled with reckless gamblers and desperate outlaws, pick out his man, scarcely saying a word, and march him out the door without placing his hand on a weapon, or holding himself in readiness for an attack."

"Coming down the street one day I heard rapid firing, and looking up saw Wells standing behind the stump of a tree (the stumps still stood in the streets where the trees had been felled) and three men blazing away at him. Wells was as rigid as a statue, his face a little white, but unmoved. He was a sure shot with a revolver, and I expected to see him draw his six-shooter and drop his men in one, two, three order, but he did not stir. For a moment the bullets rained around there, and then the sound of the shooting suddenly ceased. The three men had emptied their revolvers. At that instant, quick as a flash, and with a tiger bound, Wells leaped before the three men, and, whipping out his revolver, with a swift stroke of his arm, covered them. They all stood stock still. The whole thing took less time than it does to draw a long breath. Then he grimly walked the three of them off and he saw them securely locked up."

"I met him a few hours later leaning carelessly over a bar, as easy and unconcerned as if he had never heard the crack of a six-shooter."

"'Good heavens, Wells,' I said to him, 'why did you let those fellows blaze away at you without returning a shot?' The chances were fifty to one against you."

"There was a quiet smile on his lips when he answered that words can not describe, and in his eye was the twinkle of a man who loved a good joke."

"There was just one ball in the chamber of my revolver," he said, "and I thought I might need it later."

"And there is a man," said the speaker, after a slight pause, "who defied the bullets of desperadoes for years, and who went down like a child before the fever."

Beautiful Women of Peru.

As all the world knows the women of Lima are proverbial for their beauty, says a Lima letter. Such large, liquid, "soulful" eyes; such rosebud lips and pearly teeth; such dainty hands and feet and rounded arms and graceful figures it would be hard to find so commonly anywhere else on the earth. A comparatively few of the most ultra-fashionable wear modern hats and bonnets for state occasions, but the vast majority still cover their glossy black tresses with the lace mantilla or black manta of silk or woolen. The latter is the only correct thing for church wear among young and old, rich and poor; and a bonnet would more be allowed during service than a gentleman at the North would be expected to come to the communion altar with his hat on his head. But the mantas are no longer put on, as formerly, so that only one eye of the wearer is visible, but are disposed with more or less coquettish effect, and are vastly more becoming to the Castilian type of beauty than the most elaborate triumphs of French millinery.

Killed by a Kiss.

About two years ago I was requested to investigate a case of sudden death, says a writer in the New York World. I had often heard of persons dying of fright, but I was not prepared to believe it. Upon being conducted into the parlor I was informed by the owner, a well-known merchant, that his daughter had died under peculiar circumstances. She had arisen in good health and spirits. While she was seated at the table talking with her mother, her brother, who was about to leave for business, came up behind her stealthily and kissed her full in the mouth before she was aware of it was. The girl screamed, sunk back in a dead faint, and when she was brought to went into convulsions, and died before medical attendance could arrive. The whole family were of a nervous temperament, very excitable, and subject to hysteria. The autopsy showed that the girl had been perfectly healthy. Death was undoubtedly due to a nervous shock.

A Civilizing Process.

The holy synod established a monastery in Nova Zembla by way of experiment to find out whether the monks could exercise any civilizing influence on the people in the distant north. The experiment produced favorable results. Now a resolution has been adopted to establish monasteries at various points in the Government of Archangel and in the Petchorsk territories.
